

The New Jersey Law is excessive and ultimately hurts the very consumers it is supposed to protect. The New Jersey DO NOT CALL LAW should be abrogated. The best way to protect the privacy of consumers nationwide is NOT to have another regulatory bureaucracy such as the DO NOT CALL law. Instead a tax should be imposed on telemarketers for each call they place. This initiative will reduce the amount of calls and help reduce the budget deficits.